Personal Prelatures

PERSONAL PRELATURES

Personal prelatures are jurisdictional structures of a secular type which are established by the Holy See as an instrument within the hierarchical pastoral work of the Church to carry out special pastoral or missionary tasks. Personal prelatures are based on the principle of insertion into the local Church. In this they differ essentially from the personal dioceses, such as those constituted for the faithful of a particular rite which are based on the principle of independence or autonomy in regard to local Churches.

Vatican II provided for setting up personal prelatures (see Decree, Presbyterorum ordinis, no. 10). Additional norms were established in subsequent pontifical legislation (see Motu proprio Ecclesiae Sanctae (I,4), August 6, 1966 and the Apostolic Constitution Regimini Eccelsiae Universae (no. 49 no. 1), Aug. 15, 1967). General legislation concerning personal prelatures is contained in canons 294 to 297 of the 1983 Code of Canon Law.

Personal prelatures are to be established by the Holy See after hearing the views of the respective Episcopal Conferences (can. 294). They are governed by a Prelate according to statutes given by the Holy see. The Prelate is their proper Ordinary, who may incardinate priests and must look after their spiritual and temporal welfare (can. 295). Lay people can dedicate themselves by means of a contractural agreement, to the apostolic activities of the prelature (can. 296). And the statutes are to determine the relations of the prelature with the Ordinaries of the places in which the prelature works, with the prior consent of the Ordinaries (can. 297).

Eastern Rites

With the exception of the Nine Sees of the Byzantine- Ruthenian Rite and the Byzantine-Ukrainian Rite and the Armenian, Maronite and Melkite Rites as listed in the following pages of The Official Catholic Directory, other Eastern Rites in communion with Rome do not have Ordinaries of their own in the United States. Consequently they are under the jurisdiction of the local Ordinary and the various parishes and institutions are incorporated in the Archdiocesan and Diocesan listings. Please consult these pages for full information regarding churches, personnel and statistics. For convenience, however, below are listed the Eastern Rite churches and the cities in which they are located.

JAPAN

The Japan Passionist Missions in central Japan were officially erected on March 9, 1953. At that time, a Retreat Center and canonical foundation with regular observance was established in Takarazuka, a suburb of Osaka. In 1963, a second Retreat Center and canonical foundation was established in Fukuoka in close proximity to a large secular university (students: 26,000), where special apostolates among university students are conducted. Also in 1963, an Apostolic Center and canonical foundation was established in Tokyo in conjunction with a house of religious formation. The Tokyo Apostolic Center conducts various programs, particularly among university students and workers, to spread the faith among the millions of nonchristians of the city. Itinerant preachers from these three centers conduct parish missions and retreats throughout the entire country. A mission parish in the archdiocese of Osaka includes the cities of Ikeda, Kawanishi, part of Takarazuka and approximately 40 sq. miles of mountain territory with a composite population of 210,000. Publication Japan Jottings, quarterly, Mefu, Japan 665.

Founded in 1843 by Bishop Charles de Forbin Janson. It is the official agency of the Church by which Catholic children of the world contribute through their prayers and sacrifices to the welfare of other children in more than 90 mission countries. Since its beginning, it has become the personal favor of every Pope. In 1926, Pope Pius XI elevated the Society to Pontifical rank. Holy Childhood endeavors to attain its ends through the united efforts of all Catholic children who are taught to recognize that sensitivity to others is an essential dimension of Christianity. Funds are distributed annually to every part of the mission world by a Pontifical Commission, including allotments being provided for the Home Missions of the United States. All allocations sent to the Missions through the agency of the Holy Childhood are used solely in the interests of the children of these missions. In this way, the worldwide membership of the Association each year supports and educates over 1,000,000 children throughout the world and is officially established in 167 Archdioceses and Dioceses of the country where local directors are in charge.
